Ex-members of gurdwara body, supporters resent ad hoc panel

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

AMBALA, DECEMBER 16
Ahead of the proposed election of the new executive body of the Haryana Sikh Gurdwara Management Committee (HSGMC), former members, who were not included in the ad hoc-committee and their supporters, have started showing resentment against the new committee.
Accusing the state government of ignoring the community leaders who had struggled for the committee and accommodating its loyalists, the former members and their supporters have threatened to open a front against the new committee and the state government.
They have also started asking the eight members of the previous committee, who have been appointed in the new committee, to resign else they will also face opposition.
Former HSGMC member Apar Singh said, "The government has included such people in the committee who have no role in the formation of the HSGMC, while those who had struggled were ignored. The government has appointed close aides of ministers in the committee which is unacceptable. We will soon call a meeting and decide the future course of action. We will submit memorandums, and hold demonstrations to press our demands."
Joga Singh, another former member, said, "There is resentment among the Sikh Sangat and people are seeking resignation from the members appointed in the new committee. Meetings are being held by the former members and their supporters. The strategy will be disclosed in a couple of days."
Sukhvinder Singh, who had been associated with the previous committee, said, "Even the Congress had accommodated its people in the committee and every government does that. We have no objection to that, but the BJP government hasn't only accommodated its close aides, but also those who had been changing their sides for their vested interests. We will appeal that Jagdish Jhinda and the other old members who have been appointed in the new committee should resign otherwise they will also face opposition. We are holding meetings with the community leaders and will soon announce the future course of action."
Former HSGMC president Jagdish Singh Jhinda said, "The government has included my name in the committee and I am grateful to the state government, but there is resentment among the old members and people who have been associated with the committee in different ways. We can't ignore and disrespect the sentiments of the Sikh Sangat. There is pressure on us. But before taking any call, I will meet the people who had been associated with us, consult them and also take time from Chief Minister Manohar Lal Khattar to raise the issue before the government"
The election of the executive body is proposed to be held on December 21 in Kurukshetra.

RESPECT SANGAT'S SENTIMENTS

"The government has included my name in the committee and I am grateful for it, but there is resentment among the old members and people associated with the committee. We can't ignore and disrespect the sentiments of the Sikh Sangat.

Taking cognisance of the sewage overflowing on the Rohtak-Sonepat highway passing through Bhalauth village in Rohtak district, Deputy Chief Minister Dushyant Chautala today said that strict action would be taken against the guilty.
"Waste water is damaging the highway, which is a serious matter. We will take up the matter at the next meeting of the District Grievances Committee and fix the responsibility for it. Whoever is found guilty won't be spared," he said.

Local residents as well as commuters have been facing inconvenience due to the sewage overflowing on the highway.
Bhalauth Sarpanch Kuldeep (alias Happy) said there was no permanent arrangement for the disposal of wastewater. Minister says community centres, libraries, water treatment plants on anvil

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

PANIPAT, DECEMBER 16
State Development and Panchayats Minister Devender Babli on Friday said the state government was determined to develop rural areas. He appealed to public representatives to work on the vision of development.
Devender Babli was addressing public representatives of the Panchayati Raj Institutions during the district-level Panchayati Raj Sammelan in Panipat and Karnal today.
The minister said the development of a village would not be limited to maintaining streets and drains. The central and state governments have brought several schemes of development which would change the condition of villages, he said, adding that these would be developed on the lines of cities.
A blueprint for each gram panchayat had been prepared under which development of parks, community centres, youth clubs, hi-tech library and a treatment plant for water management would be done for the people in villages with the support of elected public representatives.
He said the garbage management system would also be developed in villages. The government is also planning to allot tenders at the block level for it, he added.
He said the Panchayat Department had completed the mapping of properties of all 6,200 panchayats. As many as 3,700 buildings have been identified in rural areas which are in a dilapidated condition.
The renewal of these structures would be completed by February next year, in which 1,200 hi-tech libraries would be set up. Besides, 1,000 gyms and youth clubs would also be set up and community centres in 3-5 acres would be constructed.
